An Evening of Music, Medicine, and Memories

Haley Reinhart

A timeless voice outlasts eras. The double platinum-certified Chicago-born singer and song writer was introduced to the world in 2011, when Haley landed third place and became a fan favorite on season 10 of American Idol. More recently, Haley returned to Idol this time as a mentor, coaching contestants singing in the Soul Genre. Her dynamic presence powered four solo albums — Listen Up! (2012) on Interscope Records, Better (2016) on Red Dot, What's That Sound? (2017) on Concord Records, and Lo-Fi Soul (2019) on Haley's self-owned label, Reinhart Records. Haley latest work is the extended play Off The Ground (2022). All seven original songs are either written or co-written by Haley. Meanwhile, her take on the Elvis Presley classic, Can't Help Falling In Love generated over 400 million Spotify streams and 100 million YouTube views within a few years of its release.

Haley's music has been featured in countless ads and commercials for companies including Mazda and JP Morgan Chase and television programs including Love Island, Gossip Girl, Nashville, Riverdale, The Wilds, America's Got Talent, and Dancing with the Stars. On the touring front, Haley is her busiest in her fifteen years in music. From Fall 2022 to Fall 2023, she headlined her "Off The Ground Tour". Haley played to raved reviews in over 100 theaters and rock rooms throughout North America. This year, Haley has taken her career to another level. After spending the first half of the year writing and recording a new album, Haley now embarks on her headline tour, which will hit over seventy-five cities from May to November 2024.

Justin-Lee Schultz

Justin is a South African-born, Michigan-based jazz, blues, fusion, funk, and gospel musician. He is known for his soulful and passionate performances, and has been praised for his ability to hold his own with musicians twice his age. At the age of 13, he released his first solo album, Gruv Kid, which features his sister Jamie-Lee Schultz on drums and various family members involved in playing and production.

Justin discovered his musical superpowers at the young age of 5 when he first laid hands on a piano. Just two weeks later he performed on stage with his dad, leaving the audience awestruck by his talent.

Quickly mastering multiple instruments, Justin has been receiving industry recognition from best-in-class music companies.

At the age of 13, he signed his first recording contract and debuted Gruv-Kid featuring collaborations with jazz heavyweights Bob James, Najee, Jonathan Butler as well as other collaborations with high-profile artists.

Jazz, Blues, R&B, Pop, Gospel – Justin effortlessly explores a wide range of music styles and his soulful vocals add depth to his music, truly making him a versatile performer.

Justin's captivating performances have flooded the social media feeds of music lovers of all ages and genres. With massive views, comments, and shares, he has become a sensation among fans worldwide.

Casey Abrams

From his youngest days, Casey Abrams' musical imagination became focused on trying to play every one of the music teacher Mrs. Purdy's collection of exotic world instruments at elementary school, McKenzie School in Wilmette, Illinois had in their collection.

Casey's jazz and funk-based solo career has landed him at Carnegie Hall with the New Orleans Jazz Orchestra, at LA's Catalina Jazz Club to perform with Jack Black and Tenacious D, Basel, Switzerland, and at the Playboy Jazz Festival at the Hollywood Bowl. In 2019 alone, Casey was a featured actor in the feature film Love and Debt. He also headed up the Postmodern Jukebox 6-week tour around all of Australia and New Zealand.

As a solo performer, and with his own rotating band of jazz/funk/rock/pop musicians, Casey has for years been hugely popular on social media, scoring almost 400,000,000 views of his own music videos and appearances throughout the internet and on his own YouTube channel.

About Volunteers in Medicine

Volunteers in Medicine is a nonprofit organization offering a unique healthcare model that benefits the entire community. An interprofessional team of staff and volunteers provide comprehensive medical, dental and behavioral health services to working low income families.

All services are provided without cost to ensure patients are healthy and well to work, provide for their families and stay out of poverty.

Your ticket purchase will not only provide an amazing entertainment experience but also support a nonprofit that provides critical healthcare services to our low income working uninsured neighbors.
